Windows or Apple for Your Veteran?

At Performance by Design, we ensure to provide new, high-quality IT equipment to your veteran. We can also consult with your veteran on the tier of equipment to recommend based on their training program pursuits. This can also include the type of computer suggested by us for your veteran.

Windows and Apple computers both provide overall services for your veteran to accomplish their training task. We typically suggest Windows based computers for most veteran's training program. We would suggest Apple based computers for veteran's pursuing trainings in Graphic Design, Audio Engineering or Software Development (Unix format). If your veteran request an Apple based computer for their training program not matching our criteria, we will request an approval of items from Vocational Rehabilitation Counselor.

We will always process order based on Vocational Rehabilitation Counselor's approval criteria. All devices will have warranty coverage while in their training program that also includes dedicated Technical Care Support. At Performance by Design, we will do our part to supplement your veteran's success in their program!
